

GRADUATE PROGRAM IN

Interdisciplinary Studies

SPRING Information Session Masters in Interdisciplinary Studies

When: Wednesday, September 11, 2015, 3– 5pm

Where: McLaughlin College - Senior Common Room #140

Details Interdisciplinary Studies provides an opportunity to pursue independent, innovative and courageous research that bridges three disciplinary categories.

Do you have a desire to create your own path to challenge and defy the traditional boundaries of university study? Do you want to explore an issue through three seemingly disparate disciplines?

York's MA in Interdisciplinary Studies offers the opportunity to create your own paths to learning. Within the Interdisciplinary Studies program, motivated students work with and learn from scholars of various backgrounds related to your research topic and join a small group of high-achieving students with a wide range of scholarly interests and perspectives. You'll have the option to choose topics typically explored from an intriguing range of over 50 Graduate Programs.

Are you interested in applying for the Interdisciplinary Studies Program?

Would you like to know more about the Graduate Program in Interdisciplinary Studies including duration, funding and how to apply?

Come to our information sessions and meet the Director and Program Assistant.

Check it OUT: <http://futurestudents.yorku.ca/graduate/programs/interdisciplinary-studies>

To RSVP or for Questions, PLEASE EMAIL gradinst@yorku.ca

Parking : Founder's Visitors' Lot is closest to McLaughlin College :

<http://www.yorku.ca/web/maps/>

Website: <http://interdis.gradstudies.yorku.ca/>